DETAILED ACTION

This action is on claims 24- 39.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 24- 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is not clear what is meant by the phrase "vector of at least 20 kb into the genome of which an exogenous DNA sequence is inserted." It is not clear what is 20 kb, or if it starts or ends at least 20 kb, what the relation between vector and genome is, and if vector is added to genome that has exogenous DNA inserted.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 24- 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Art Unit: 1648

The specification only teaches modification/deletion of the E1, E2, E3 and E4 regions and not other portions of the genome. No other parts of the genome are taught or have examples disclosing what would be done.

Thus, it is concluded that the only portions deleted in possession of applicant at the time of filing are those relating to E1, E2, E3 and E4 regions.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 24- 39 rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1- 18 of U.S. Patent No. 6,110,735. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 24- 30, and 32- 38 are drawn to the same invention, a method of introducing into a prokaryotic cell a first DNA fragment comprising all or part of an adenovirus genome and a second DNA fragment consisting of an exogenous DNA sequence surrounded by flanking sequences A and B, culturing to allow homologous recombination, and harvesting to the resulting recombinant vector. The dependent claims of Patent and application are drawn to essentially identical limitations.

The two claims not listed above are addressed as follows:

Claim 31 is drawn to a particular peptide participating in cellular ion channels. Claim 30 of the application and claim 6 of the patent are drawn to a group of exogenous DNA sequences encoding polypeptides including cellular ion channels. The Patent column 4, lines 6-8, discloses a specific example of what is contemplated by cellular ion channel protein and lists CFTR. Claim 39 is directed to a method that is a continuation of the method of claim 24. It would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use a recombinant adenoviral vector made in claim 24 to transfect eukaryotic cells to produce a viral particle made of a recombinant adenoviral genome.

Conclusion

No claim is allowed.
